

Engineering Work Alterations

October 2026

Updated 27/9/26

NATIONAL SUMMARY

Nothing to report at the time of posting.

ALL OPERATORS INCLUDING FREIGHTLINER

The reported service alterations below focus on railway corridors which are operated by class 90s for Freightliner, but these alterations also apply to other operators who do not use Class 90s too.

West Coast Main Line

- 13th to 15th October inclusive – nighttime diversions via Weedon and Stoke-on-Trent for some intermodals during this period. See RTT for more details.
- 26th to 28th October inclusive – nighttime diversions via the West Midlands including Bescot for some intermodals. See RTT for more details.

There were no other known alterations to report on at the time of going to press. However, engineering work does take place on various sections of the WCML during the week and at weekends at short notice. It is advisable to check real-time data sources for specific trains on specific days just to be sure that the train you're looking for is a runner or is diverted.

East Anglia / GEML

There were no known alterations to report on for October at the time of going to press. However, engineering work does take place on various sections of the GEML during the week and at weekends at short notice. It is advisable to check real-time data sources for specific trains, on specific days just to be sure that the train you're looking for is a runner or is diverted.
